

You and I
Carl Colvin

A deep sigh rises from the high-tide water, the wind reaching to tickle a ripple out of its surface then climb with its own sigh to the distant trees. It plays with their leaves
while the water
watches, and
the ripple
smooths
out the surface.