

Nature Vs.
Jason Melvin

The dandelion
cleaves through a crack in the sidewalk

Crab grass and clovers speak up in spots
along the driveway

Evergreen shrubs
left to mature without trimming now brush the roof's gutters

Resilient grass blades among the landscape stones find their way through plastic mesh

It taunts me
let's me know
I am temporary

just squatting
a renter
at best

